All beautiful things have one thing in common: their simplicity.

Sedus has been designing and making office furniture of the future for more than a century. We aim for nothing short of perfection. The Sedus temptation table system proves that the ultimate in technology and supreme functionality does not have to be complicated. This next generation of office tables is unsurpassable in its simplicity, flexibility, practicality and elegance. Whether as a foundation for newcomers or an extension system for professionals – Sedus temptation makes furnishing a breeze. Simply beautiful.

Design: Andreas Struppler

These days it's imperative to have a vision.

You can only reach your goals if you can adapt to changes quickly and are well-prepared for the future.

Sedus temptation embodies this spirit. It doesn't matter what challenge presents itself or what appears on the scene – temptation conforms.

And if the fashion changes: no problem. Sedus temptation could not be more timeless with its simple, elegant design.

A new dimension in stability:
the Sedus temptation knot.

The secret to the flexibility and stability of the system lies in the corners and edges, or, rather, in the innovative joints. The inspirationally simple and brand new design of the corners makes assembly child's play whilst ensuring maximal stability, even with heavy weights.

Connect, screw and that's it: it is that easy to create individual and stable table configurations.

Reduced to the maximum – ultimate functionality and flawless design.

The gently angled cross-rail underneath the table edge is designed with functionality in mind. It is an attachment point for further table elements, computers, printers or other components, yet doesn't affect the stability of the table. Another feature is the 19 mm table top. Not only is it extremely light, but when combined with the cross-rail, it is also ahead of its time. Sedus temptation already complies with a future EU standard, which will limit the thickness of the edge of the table to 5 cm to guarantee greater leg space.

For those who aim high: Sedus temptation is available in three different frame versions. With a fixed height of 72 cm, with an adjustable height of 68 to 76 cm via a screw-in spindle and with a freely adjustable height of 62 to 85 cm via a telescopic mechanism (Fig. on left).

Versatile through and through. Be it a single, elegant table or a complex system – Sedus temptation offers choice when it comes to office furnishing. For that very special, refined look: the walnut worktop.

As individual as one's character. Workstations reflect one's personality. Straight or angled, minimal or ornate, large or small: the possible combinations are endless.

The stable structure and modular concept makes almost any conceivable workstation possible. Space-saving bench configurations can be quickly installed, as can complex office landscapes.

With perfectly coordinated modules, including dividers, pedestals or screen and sound absorbers, even open-plan offices can become separate oases of calm.

The easily adaptable Sedus screen and sound absorbers provide space for personal freedom and create a pleasant working atmosphere.

The perfect solution for saving space and expense. Thanks to the unique stability of the temptation table tops, connectors and cross-rails, one can create double tables with large team tables.

More space, more room, more communication.

A number of workstations can be combined quickly and easily to form a large bench. This creates one continuous workspace with great freedom of movement and a communicative atmosphere.

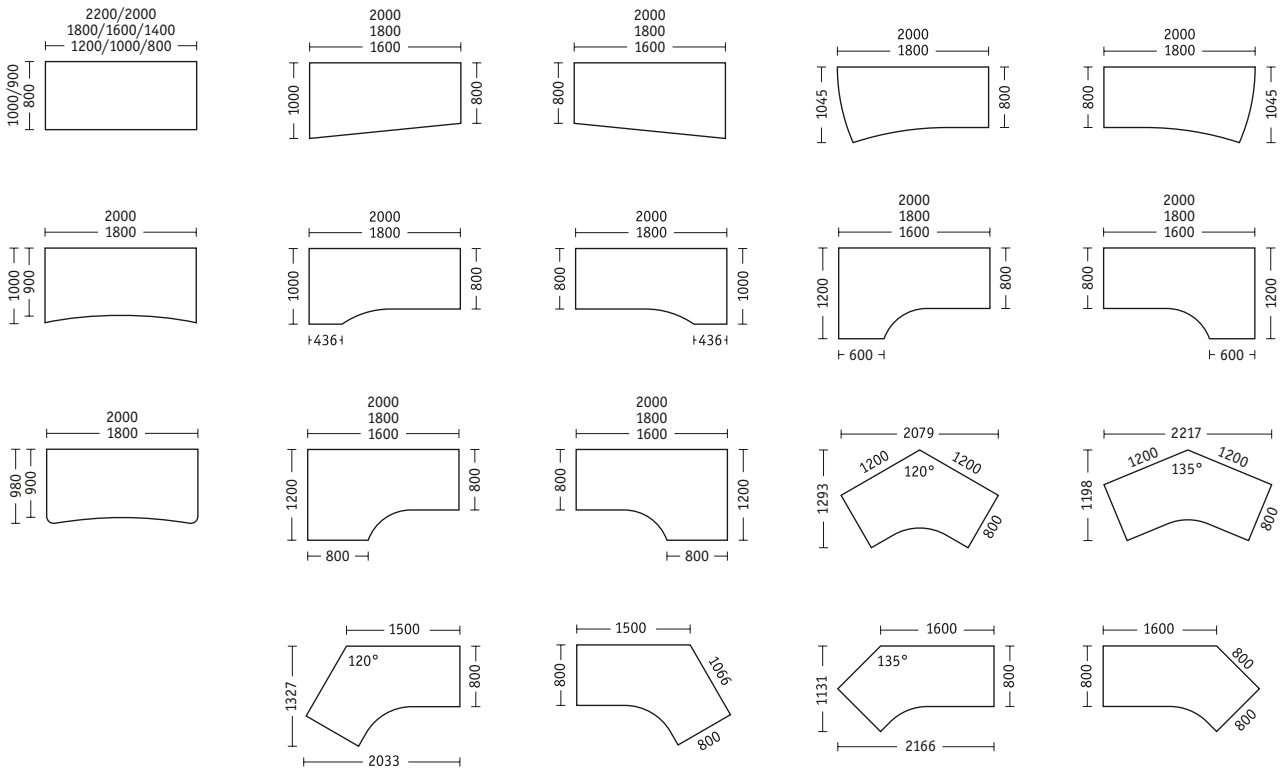

Working comfort in the most confined space.

The temptation table system even creates comfortable multiple workstations in very confined spaces.

Already one of the classic conference tables.
Its purist design and stability make Sedus temptation ideal for furnishing sophisticated conference rooms.

A passion for work. A heart for the environment.

Ecology and environmental protection are elements of the corporate philosophy that Sedus pursues each and every day. It applies to our work processes, the demands we make of suppliers and how we handle materials. With Sedus temptation, we took great pains to use wood of irreproachable origin and make sure to keep energy consumption during production to a minimum. Also, we believe that there is nothing better for the environment than a product which lasts. This is why our internal tests and guidelines are stricter than the legal standards. This is also why you can be sure that all Sedus products feature superlative product quality and easy replacement of wearing parts.
